

Elisha John A.

ID: 7340

I am a veterinary student with a strong focus on farm animal practice. My interests lie in herd health management, livestock production, and the application of veterinary medicine in agricultural settings. I am passionate about promoting animal welfare and productivity through evidence-based practices and hands-on experience in the field. I aim to contribute to sustainable farming systems by integrating health, nutrition, and disease prevention strategies in farm life.

General information

Considering industry

Type of employment                      Unskilled worker

Age    24 (2001)

Original nationality                      Philippines

EU Citizenship                              No

Location of residence

Country of residence                      Filippinerne

City of residence                              San Jose Nueva Ecija

Staying type                                      Job search visa

Work Experience

Work period	from 01.06.2023 to 01.08.2023
Land	Filippinerne
Industry	Landbrug
Profession	Milk farm worker
Branche	Mælke produktion
Responsibility

I gained valuable hands-on experience in dairy herd management and daily farm operations. My responsibilities included assisting in milking procedures, monitoring animal health and behavior, administering medications, and supporting reproductive management practices. I also participated in feeding programs, calf care, and helped maintain proper sanitation and biosecurity measures. This experience strengthened my practical understanding of dairy production and reinforced my interest in large animal and herd health management.

---

Education

Type of education	Mellemlang, bachelor
Uddannelsesstatus	Under uddannelse
Educational institution	Central Luzon State University
Land	Filippinerne
Period	from 01.08.2019 to 01.07.2025

Beskrivelse

I am currently pursuing a degree in veterinary medicine with a strong focus on farm animal care and herd health management. Through my academic and field experiences, I've built a solid foundation in animal health, diagnostics, and preventive care especially in large animal practice. My journey reflects a commitment to supporting animal welfare and sustainable livestock systems.

---

| Sporg

Sprog

Engelsk

Niveau

Avanceret niveau

---

| Driver's license

